GOING ON THE 'TELLY!. . .

The British call it "telly" and Cameron is going before the cameras of the education station at Central Texas College.

Some of Cameron's civic and history types met with a spokesman for the Killeen community college Wednesday to discuss format and subject material for filming.

Mrs. Kathryn Mason, the CTC program cordinator, led the discussion and framed the outline which will be produced for area viewing.

116-116-116

Cameron is also going on the commercial stations of KCEN-TV and KWTX-TV with commercials about the sixth annual Folk Fete toward the end of May and early June.

Filming of a few elements of the annual festival was shot several weeks ago, both for commercial production and news coverage as the festival develops in early June.

116-116-116

This combination of coverage will be increased with guest shots on TV talk shows in Waco, Austin, and Temple about Folk Fete's sixth production.

This coverage will reach about 60 or 70 Texas counties through the next few weeks, not to mention the density of newspaper coverage which will develop throughout the same period. Other media will also contribute to a wider treatment of Fete.

116-116-116

I don't know of any town going any more in the line of civic recognition than Cameron. The 1974 Governor's award for Beautification only amplifies the efforts that Cameron has put together for the past decade or more.

It is fair to say everyone is hearing the modern story of an old town, which at times in the past coundn't buy or develop this favorable story among an earlier Texas.

Folk Fete Adds New Plans

Plans for a rip-roaring Folk Fete '75 continue to roll along with extra added attractions shaping up and listing of food booths for the three-day affair set for June 6, 7, and 8.

However, one event, the Folk Fete Marathon, will be run on May 31. A community sing-along has been added to take place after the Saturday parade at the mall, and entries for the parade are still open.

Mrs. Kay Green, chairman of the Fete games, outlined details of the marathon, the first for the city's annual festival. The marathon will be run May 31 beginning at 10 a.m. and lasting about one hour. This will be an 8-mile race and is open to anyone who would like to enter a team or enter as an individual.

Mrs. Green said each team can have as many as 18 people participating in the events. Each contestant may run in more than one event if he wishes.

The eight miles will be broken up as follows: Mile 1, Mile relay, 4 people; Mile 1, Bike, 1 person; Mile 1, Mile Run, 1 person; Miles 2, 880 Bike Relay, 4 people; Miles 2, 880 Relay, 4 people; Mile 1, Mile Relay, 4 people.

The only entry requirement is that each group have a team captain to prepare a list of the names and ages of the contestants and that he be responsible for the group and their equipment being at their starting points on time.

The event will be relayed to KMIL radio station by means of citizens band radios and broadcast during the entire race.

While area schools are invited to participate, local businesses and civic groups are encouraged to get a team together and to compete.

Rules are that entratns must be 15 years old or older; every entrant must be at the downtown mall at 9 a.m. on Saturday, May 31 in order to get men and equipment to appropriate starting points; adequate runners for the mile run; participants between 15 and 18 must have their parents sign a parental release form.

Individual or team applications should be mailed immediately to Joe White, White's Television, Cameron, TX 76520.

The Folk Fete community sing-along will begin after the parade at 11 a.m. Saturday morning, June 8 at the mall. Rev. and Mrs. Darryl Proffitt are co-charimen of that committee and they have listed the following as some of the features in the program.

Children's choir from the Evangelical Brethren Church at Buckholts; combined choirs from the combined Cameron Negro churches; duets, solos, and group participation in familiar songs.

Everyone is invited to the program and if the sun is too hot, trees at the courthouse will provide shade.

The Folk Fete parade is still open to entries from local people or area folks who would like to enter a walking unit, decorated car, float, band, decorated bicycle, new car dealer, farm implement dealer, horse riders or clowns.

Mrs. Leo Fuchs is parade chairman for this year's parade, and she should be contacted for an entry blank. Trophies will be awarded for the best entries.

There will be 13 food booths at the National Guard Armory grounds serving a variety of delectible foods for Fete crowds. Claence Hanel is chairman of the food concessions.

Booths will include: Cameron CYO--kolaches; Mrs. Lupe Flores--Mexican plate; Rotary Club--pizzas; VFW--hot dogs; Mrs. Roselee Mondrik--Lone Star merchandise; German dancers--corn on the cob; Boy Scouts--Coke and Dr. Pepper; Cameron Fire Dept.--barbecued beef; Mrs. Felipe Martinez--Mexican plate; Paul Sheguit--grilled hamburgers; Cameron Evenings Lions--sausage sandwiches; Agriculture Committee of the Chamber of Commerce--Joe Glaser's fried catfish; and Cameron Police Association wil l have a booth.

LEFTOVER CLOUDS from an early morning thunderstorm which woke residents with its thundersous clamor Tuesday form a dark canopy over the Little River bottom before moving out of the area.

Annual Meeting Set For Powers Chapel Association

ROSEBUD

Powers Chapel Cemetery Association will hold its annual meeting, Sunday, May 25, according to Bruce R. Royal of Rosebud, program director. The meeting will be at the Power's Chapel tabernacle across the road from the famous old cemetery which dates back to the mid-1800s.

Garland Barton of Marlin will be Master of Ceremonies. The Reverend George R. Hearne, pastor of the First United Methodist Churches of Rosebud and Cedar Springs, will deliver the memorial sermon at 11:15 a.m.

Services will begin at 10:30 a.m. The Rev. R. L. Brown, pastor of the Pleasant Grove Baptist Church, will give the invocation, dismissal, and table grace. Randolph Burton of Rosebud will give the memorial welcome.

J. T. Scott of Marlin will be song leader for the congregational singing, with Mrs. Elbert Watkins of Marlin as pianist. Mrs. Charles Michalk of Kingsville will sing as a special number, "Amazing Grace." The Cedar Springs Quartet will sing "Until You've Known the Love of God."

Moor Anding will give the secretary's report of the association's work for the year, in both the morning and afternoon meetings.

At noon, dinner will be spread on tables under the huge trees back of the tabernacle.

The afternoon meeting will consist of congregational singing, spiced with special numbers of solos, duets, quartets, and groups. Reed Watkins of Rosebud will present the memorial flowers at 1:30 p.m.

Plans Underway For Stiles Field Day

THRALL

Plans are under way for the 13th annual Stiles Farm Foundation Field Day to be held June 17 at Thrall in Williamson County.

"Everything on the farms looks good, with crops making good progress," says Calvin Rinn, farm manager. "We've got good moisture and so far we've been fortunate in missing the hail that has caused considerable crop damage over the area."

According to Rinn, this year's field day will offer two tours to visitors, with each lasting about an hour-and-a-half. The first field tour will begin at 2 p.m. and the second tour will start at 3:30 p.m.

A special program at 5:30 p.m. will feature an address by State Rep. Joe Hubenak of Rosenberg, chairman of the Agriculture and Livestock Committee.

Four field stops will be featured on each of the tours and will deal with catfish production along with the production of small grains, sorghum and annual forages, with special emphasis on new varieties.

"We've shortened the tour a little along with adding a second tour so that visitors will have more opportunity to see the various displays and educational booths," notes Rinn. "Also, many visitors like to talk over problems and concerns with the specialists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the scientists of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station that are on hand."

To take full advantage of all that the field day has to offer, Rinn encourages visitors to come early for the 2 p.m. tour and to spend the remainder of the afternoon visiting exhibits and booths.

Visitors wanting a bird's-eye view of the farm operation will be able to enjoy a helicopter ride over the farm at $5 per person.

The 3,200-acre Stiles Farm operates as a demonstration farm for the Central Texas Blackland area. It was established in 1961 under the trusteeship of the Texas A&M University System. The farm is located one mile east of Thrall on U.S. Highway 79.

Deadline Told For Cotton Planting

Milam County cotton farmers have until midnight May 31 to meet the 1975 cotton planting deadline, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White reports.

Planting for the county has reached almost 100 percent completion, but some stands have suffered moderate weather damage and will have to be replanted. Seedlihgs disease has also been reported in some areas, and farmers have begun replanting operations in these fields.

"However," White added, "because of the sluggish cotton market, many farmers have indicated that they plan to re-seed to sorghum instead."

Reflecting the poor growing conditions of 1974, Texas upland cotton production fell to 2,462 thousand bales--the smallest upland crop since 1946.

City Hears Report On CommunityDevelopment

Preliminary work on the city's community development plan is getting underway, A. W. McCullin told city councilmen at a regular meeting Tuesday evening.

Survey work is being done for the new park and contacts are being made for acquisition of property in the area.

Basic work on the sewer extensions for Alabama Town is being done, McCullin said, with surveying and making up flow charts. He said the hilly terrain in the area presents problems.

On the housing plan, some 35 vacant derelict houses have been marked for demolition after letters go out to property owners.

These three plans are part of an overall plan for which $136,000 has been allocated for the first year by the federal government.

In other business, Mayor Gene Blake aired a conflict of interest charge brought by Councilman Lincoln Mondrik at a prior meeting. The charge involved Street Supt. Walter Wallace selling concrete to the city.

The matter was resolved when three councilman met with Wallace who said he would rather keep his present job than sell concrete to the city. The mayor reminded council about the open meetings law. City Atty. Ed Magre said since the matter involved personnel, it was legal for the meeting to be closed.

Council also:

--Agreed to purchase a new 16-foot diving board for the city pool;

--Heard Code Inspector E. A. Bigbee explain how citations on violations of the code will be handled;

--Heard a letter from the mayor requiring all personnel to use requisitions for any purchase over $100 to conform to the city charter;

--Awarded bid for a fire alert system to S W Sales of Killeen;

--Formed a committee appointed by the mayor to study requests on streets and make recommendations to council. Lawrence Zotz is chairman with members Jan Luecke and Ernest Moore;

--Called for bids on a new fogging machine;

--Passed a resolution requested by the Chamber of Commerce supporting the upgrading of Highways 36 and 190 for a Port-to-Plains four lane highway;

--Heard that Cameron has been designated as a Texas Bicentennial Community and that national status is under application;

--Approved appointment of Odell Biggs and Albert Matula to the Cameron Housing Authority;

--Discussed forming a Civil Defense unit for the city as recommended by the Texas Department of Public Safety. A representative will meet with council at its next meeting to explain;

--Agreed to let the Chamber of Commerce handle requests to use the mall;

--Approved appointment of Mrs. Leo Fuchs, Emil Biskup, and J. T. Manness to the board of equalization.

$4,400 Allocated By Civic Clubs For Tennis Courts

A total of $4,400 has been allocated by local civic organizations to be used in the erection of four tennis courts on the north side of the Cameron City Park.

The funds include $1,600 from the Noon Lions Club radio auction funds; $1,600 from the Evening Lions Club; $200 from the Knights of Columbus, and $1,000 from the Cameron Rotary Club.

The four courts will have a 1 1/2 inch asphalt surface over a 6 inch caliche base, and will be fenced all around with chain link fencing. The courts will also be lighted for night play.

The tennis courts will be open to the public and will be a very definite addition to the city's recreational facilities.

The City of Cameron has also agreed to participate in the construction of the courts.

Rails Along The Roads . . .

Near completion of the nation's Interstate Highway System building program fordains President Ford's proposals to put $2 billion into the nation's railroads.

Assuming the Congress approves funding to update the tens of thousands of miles of railroads in this country, ground transportation will take on a new dimension.

American Automobile Association notes that 99 percent of the highway system's 42,500 miles of freeways is under construction or complete.

The President says he proposed to revitalize by "major and massive initiative" the railroads of this country because "the rail problem has been neglected too long."

Mail service has suffered with heavy ground transportation delivery and sectional center distribution. When the mailcars carried mail, stopping, throwing off, or picking up mailbags at almost every juncture, frequent, reliable deliver y of mail was the rule.

We have gone to airmail cross country, pulled most if not all of the mails from railroads and put area distribution into trucks. Highway distribution came with the enormous development of the freeway system.

The President also promises legislation enabling funds for trucking, yet to be announced.

Railroad legislation acknowledges the intricate web of railways throughout the nation, a maze of cross ties and steel rail consuming millions of acres of land given to railroad builders or granted at low prices a century ago. Railroads helped build the towns and tied the country together.

All this investment and potential service to a sprawling nation returning to non-metro and rural America deserve rejuvenation.

Rail service in other countries has become a high-speed passenger service where highways are too expensive to build. We have super highways . We need better railroads.

TV Deference To Class . . .

It's a bit nostalgic when two great thespians are cited by television.

Emmys went to Katherine Hepburn and Sir Laurence Olivier Monday night for lead roles in "Love Among the Ruins."

TV so often honors the supercilious, it is pleasant to see honors for two acting greats, possibly the best actor and actress in English language stage and screen over their lifetimes.

We suppose it is difficult nto be classic and popular for television. Ratings are critical even for single dramatic performances.

Some years ago, Richard Boone had a repetory company putting on a new television play each week for a season. The standard was high, but not the ratings. The show was dropped, and Boone moved to Hawaii for a number of years in protest.

More oatburners and mysteries came in. Boone is back as an early 1900 lawman, senior cowboy-detective. He got the message, and now he's "Hec Ramsey."

But the Hepburn-Olivier awards are encouraging. But it's not likely they'll play Matt and Kitty in "Gunsmoke." Ironically, this mos t believable of oatburners is going off the air.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

MONEY BILLS MAY LIST COST TO EACH FAMILY

REP. BILL ARCHER(Texas) ". . . I have introduced H.R. 5911, a measure which would estimate the cost per taxpaying family of each spending measure passed by Congress. This bill is entitle the "Truth in Spending Act of 1975."

"Congress has enacted a number of measures to better inform the consumer regarding the full amount of charges on credit purchases, and of provisions in warranties on products purchased. It is time that we in Government better inform our constituents--the taxpaying public--of how much each spending measure will cost the individual taxpaying family.

"The average taxpayer reads of Congress passing spending bills totaling billions of dollars without realizing the specific impact large Federal expenditures have on his or her personal budget. . .

"According to the rules of the U.S. House of Representatives, a committee report must contain an estimate of the cost which will result from the enactment of any bill or joint resolution in the fiscal year it is reported. . .

"It is time to carry this information for the taxpayer one step further. My proposal would aurthorize the Congressional Office of the Budget to determine the total cost per taxpaying family separately for the authorizations and appropriations measures passed. . .

"This amount per taxpaying family can be easily determined by multiplying the total cost of legislation by the percentage of the total Federal corporate and individual taxes attributable to individuals--73.6 percent. This figure is then divided by the average numbers of individuals in a family--3.6 members according to the Statistical Abstract of 1973.

"If we look at the appropriations bills of last year, we discover that the huge $33 billion Labor/HEW Appropriations measure, Public Law 93-517, cost the average family $398.72. . .

"This proposed "Truth in Spending Act of 1975" would make the members of Congress as well as the individual taxpayer acutely aware of the growing tax burden of the programs of the Federal Government..."

* * * *

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Few taxpayers can form a mental picture of a billion dollars appropriated by the 94th Congress. But they would have no trouble in knowing what adding $398 tax dollars would do to the family budget. With each new appropriation bill carrying each families share of the tax burden, many of the big-spenders in Congress would take a second look.

Do I have a chance, oh, wise man?'

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

According to something I saw on television the other night, later confirmed by the newspapers--I always wait to make sure-- New York City is almost financially busted.

It takes a billion dollars a month to run the city, that much revenue isn't coming in, and if the Federal government doesn't lend or give--generally it's the same thing--the city a billion and a half dollars right away, the city won't be able to pay its bills.

The more you think about this the more it makes you scratch your head. New York we've been led to believe, is the intellectual, financial, and talent center of the United States. It has all the big financial houses, Wall Street, the stock exchanges, the capital. It has most of the big publishing firms, television networks, the national magazines, the editors, the art museums, the big writhers. In short, it's supposed to have almost a monopoly on the brains of the country.

Yet it can't pay its bills.

This is ridiculous, I told myself. Then I got to thinking. Sure, New York has a lot of brains--not all the brains, even if it thinks it has--but they may not necessarily be in charge of the city.

I mean, stop and think, how many cities and towns can you name, not counting Cameron of course, that invarably elect the smartest men to run the place? How many state legislatures are there that represent the top brains of that state? How many Governors, how many Presidents. . .but wait a minute, this narrows it down too uncomfortably, you're not going to catch me in that kind of a corner.

In other words, sometimes there seems to be a marked difference betwee n the people's brains and the people's government, and numerous remedies have been suggested over the years. The most often stated one is that public office doesn't attract the top brains because they can earn more in private works, and politicians are, therefore, always saying that if you'll raise the salary of office, you'll get a better quality of office-holder.

The only trouble with this is that when we raise the salaries, the same people turn up running again for the same offices.

On the other hand, there are those who say people get about as good a government as they can produce, that if the people who complain the most about their government were in charge of it, things would be about like they are now. Don't ask me the answer.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Legislators Priority Put On School Finance

Legislators are moving slowly toward adoption of a scaled-to-income school finance bill, their No. 1 priority item in closing weeks of their 1975 session.

The House, on the third day of trying, finally reached narrow agreement on a $721 million version of education finance overhaul.

Under terms of the bill, now before the Senate, school teachers would draw a starting pay of $8,000 a year.

House Speaker Bill Clayton, who engineered the House bill after representatives seemed bent on running the cost up to nearly $2 billion, termed the product a "responsible compromise."

However, it far exceeded the $500 million to $600 million then expected to be available for additional school spending.

Comptroller Bob Bullock was expected to send in a revised revenue forceast any day which could make it possible to spend as much on schools as contemplated by the House without additional taxation.

Test votes in both the House and in Senate subcommittee have gone against Gov. Dolph Briscoe's so-called weighted-pupil approach to distributing state school aid.

Indications are the bill finally agreed on in conference committee will follow pretty closely present formulas for state education spending, and critics claim there isn't enough money to do an adequate job of equalizing opportunities.

Budgets Drawn

The battle of the budget has shifted to the House.

Senators moved out first with a unanimous approving vote on a record $12.1 billion appropriations act for 1976-77. The bill called for $3.44 billion in general revenue spending, and left $493.3 million in anticipated income unspent.

The House bill was $101 million below the Senate general revenue outlay level — both, obviously, leaving far less money on the table than needed to cover a $721 million school finance bill.

A conference committee will draw the final version of the budget — which will be somewhere between the House and Senate figures.

Bills Advanced

Three bills designed to curb rising cost of medical malpractice insurance, which has led to doctor strikes in California, were passed by the Senate amid heated debate.

One of the bills provides for a malpractice pool to guarantee coverage for doctors and hospitals who cannot buy policies on the open market. Another sets up a system of rate filings with the State Insurance board. The third fixes limits of $500,000 on recovery for malpractice, not including actual medical bills.

State Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie expressed sharp displeasure over some of the measures.

Courts Speak

Texas courts have no authority to block a $45 million Southwestern Bell Telephone Company intrastate rate increase, the Third Court of Civil Appeals held.

The Supreme Court upheld a lower court finding against a widow who challenged her late husband's will on grounds that he was drinking heavily at the time he signed it.

AG Opinions

Public school teachers "unemployed" during summer months are eligible for special federal unemployment assistance benefits when they are seeking work, Atty Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

A sheriff may not permit a defendant to serve his time during off-work hours and on weekends.

A county commissioners court may not contract with the county and district retirement system for annual payment of tax money to be credited to prior service.

The open records act generally does not require a city to analyze, summarize or evaluate information in response to questions.

More Federal Controls

Federal authority to regulate the disposal of dredged or fill material in the waters of the United States will be greatly expanded under proposed regulations published in the Federal Register and would include practically all lakes, streams and rivers in the U. S.

Under some of the proposed regulations, Federal permits may be required by the rancher who wants to enlarge his stock pond, or the farmer who wants to deepen an irrigation ditch or plow a field.

The U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia has ordered that the current U.S. Army Engineer regulations be revised and expanded to include the "waters of the U. S." The Corps of Engineers previously confined its permit activities to "navigable waters of the U. S."

All comments or suggestions on the proposed regulations received in writing by the Office of the Chief of Engineers, Dept. of the Army, ATTN: DAEN-CWO-N, Washington D. C. 20314, on or before June 6 will be considered.

The Second World War, in which the Germans surrendered 30 years ago this month; is still being fought in the pages of the Soviet press. Every step of the Red Army's advance toward Berlin in the early months of 1945 has been charted by newspapers and television, commented on by generals and reminisced over by veterans. Do you think of New York as a dangerous city? Somewhere to be wary of walking the streets after dark? A noisy, bustling place where everyone is always in a hurry? Cattle Breeding Affects Screwworm Program

Spring screwworm cases are on a northwesterly trek across Texas, but good herd management practices can go a long way toward reducing outbreaks, two specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service say.

The cattle breeding season affects the screwworm program , reminds Dr. Tom Woodward, area livestock specialist, and Dr. Mike McWhorter, area entomologist, both headquartered at San Angelo. They are members of a committee named to study the screwworm problem.

A key factor in the increased number of cases in recent years is the large number of calves born during the peak months of screwworm fly activity,they emphasize. "Of all reported cattle screwworm cases from July through October of last year, 55 percent were from navels of new-born calves. Approximately 70 percent of all domestic livestock cases that occurred during this same period were from cattle," the specialist add.

For this reason, the study committee recommends that producers schedule their cattle breeding season from March 15 through July 15 each year.

"Bulls should be turned to with cows no earlier than March 15, and they should be taken out of the pasture by July 15 in order to produce calves during the peak months of January through April.

"Calves born from January through April have the benefit of spring forages and increased milk flow from the mother cows. They grow off better, and cows have a better opportunity to resume their estrous cycle and rebreed. Not only do late spring, summer, and early fall calves allow opportunities for screwworm infestations, but research also indicates that these calves may be as much as 50 pounds lighter at weaning time," Woodward and McWhorter add.

By adopting the practice of a controlled breeding season, the Texas cattle industry stands to benefit from more efficient calf production and to assist the effort to eliminate the screwworm problem, they emphasize.

Changes in cattle management practices since the screwworm eradication program began in February of 1962 and weather favorable to screwworm populations have combined to increased case loads in recent years.

Look Both Ways

LOOK UP for overhead lines when handling irrigation pipe, drilling or pulling well pipe, shifting position of portable conveyors, pruning or cutting trees, moving tall machinery, working with tv antenna, and other such jobs. LOOK DOWN before drilling or trenching. Check record of location and depth of buried utilities. Look both ways.

GSPA Raps Farm Bill Failure

Grain Sorghum Producers Association officials have expressed regret over the failure of Congress to override the farm bill veto, but are urging farmers to continue working toward the alternatves which are open to them.

GSPA officials point out that the farmer could still make production cutbacks in order to keep grain supplies stable, should continue to push for domestic and export sales and should use a program of orderly marketing.

The Lubbock-based national organization has worked continuously toward passage of the farm bill, testifying frequently before agricultural subcommittees. Immediately following the veto, GSPA Service Director, Y. F. Snodgrass spent several days in Washington urging congressmen to override the veto. The House vote on Tuesday (May 13) fell 39 votes short of the necessary margin to override a presidential veto.

GSPA Executive Director Elbert Harp, in expressing his regrets over the farm bill veto, said it would have helped to stabilize the market for both consumers and producers. He continued to stress that farmers should use production cutbacks and orderly marketing wherever possible to help stabilize the market.

You May Be One of 24,000 . . . Oats, Sheep, and Mohair Have A Common Bind . . . This Will Make You Cry . . . Vegetable and Fruit Prospects Vary.

Check your mail closely this week; you may have already received it. A total of 24,000 Texas farmers will get one; it's the 1975 crop questionnaire from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

If you do get one, you are requested to fill it out as accurately as possible and return it as promptly as possible. The figures will be used in making estimates for 1975 Texas farm crops. It's the annual survey to determine how Texas agriculture is expected to do this year in crop production.

WHAT DO SHEEP, MOHAIR, AND OATS have in common? Those are the only three categories in agriculture which are above parity levels on a state basis.

The April 15 oat price averaged $1.59 per bushel; parity is $1.43. Sheep prices averaged $18.10 in the state as of mid-April; parity is $15.40 per hundredweight. Mohair averaged $1.93 per pound while parity is $1.83.

But for all other crops and livestock it's the same story: still below parity.

Sorghum, for example, averaged $4.16 as of mid-April; parity is $5.01. Corn averaged $2.58 while parity is $2.99.

Cotton continues to be a big exception. The average cotton price in Texas was 26.8 cents per pound which is almost two cents above a month ago. Parity for that commodity is 76.38 cents per pound. And if you care to remember a year ago, cotton in Texas averaged 47 cents per pound.

All areas of livestock--with the exception of sheep--continue at below parity levels, too. Hogs in Texas averaged $37.70 while parity is almost $10 higher. Beef cattle averaged $30.70; parity is $54.40. This category of livestock did see a $5 price rise in April compared to a month ago.

Calf prices in the state averaged $23.90, up about $2 from a month ago, but still almost two-thirds below the parity ratio of $66.40. Lamb prices are about $10 below parity levels.

Eggs are down almost a dime a dozen from a month ago and almost 25 cents a dozen under parity. Wool is 21 cents per pound higher than a month ago, but still is about half of parity.

Over-all, the parity ratio crept up a point to 69. A year ago parity was 83.

A FIVE-YEAR LOW in sheep feeding in Texas is reported by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Drylot sheep feeders with a lot capacity of 2,000 head or more had only 30,000 sheep and lambs on feed for slaughter as of May 1.

This is 65 per cent below a year ago, and the smallest total on feed May 1 since 1970 when there were only 28,000 on feed.

Current intentions to market include 15,000 in May, 14,000 in June and 1,000 in July. This can change since additional lambs could be placed on feed and marketed during these months.

IF YOU LIKE ONIONS, this might make you cry. Spring onion crop production in Texas as of May 1 is down 17 per cent from last year's crop. However, yield per acre is up three per cent from last year.

The Texas summer onion crop is estimated at 5,400 acres, which is 11 per cent below the 6,100 acres harvested last season.

Cotton Still Has Bright Spots

Cotton is "still in the ball game," according to an economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Cotton was considered on its last leg by many folks last fall due to declining prices brought on by a lack of demand. Although the overall outlook hasn't changed considerably over the last few months, there are a few bright spots," believes Charles Baker.

Despite reduced world consumption of cotton and the highest world cotton stocks since 1966, the bright side of the picture shows a drastic reduction in U.S. and world cotton acreage this year along with an increasing demand as economic conditions improve.

"The Upland cotton acreage in the U.S. is expected to be down almost 30 percent from 1974 levels," points out the Texas A&M University System specialist. "Texas farmers will probably plant about 19 percent less cotton than last year although plantings could increase due to weather problems that have affected early plantings of corn and sorghum in some sections of the state."

Union Opposes Water Proposals

The National Executive Board of the Farmers Union has issued a statement vigorously opposing a proposal by the Army Corps of Engineers to expand its jurisdiction over U.S. waters, especially those affecting agriculture.

Jay Naman, Waco, President of Texas Farmers Union and a member of the National Farmers Union Executive Board, said that the resolution was passed at the board's recent Cincinnati, Ohio meeting.

Naman said the Corps of Engineers has made four alternative proposals, any of which would involve a substantial expansion of its jurisdiction over agriculture.

The most stringent proposal would require every farmer to get permission to plow fields adjacent to flood control levees, enlarge stock ponds or erect anti-erosion structures to protect their land, said Naman.

The least restrictive proposal would require permits in coastal areas below the mean high water mark or salt water vegetation line, whichever extends further, and along inland waters to navigable waters and their primary tributaries to their headwaters.

"Being coastal state and having several navigable rivers many farmers and ranchers all across Texas would be subject to regulation under the proposals put forth by the Corps of Engineers. Not only would this involve much bureaucratic redtape but it would be contrary to the good conservation practices which have traditionally been carried out by farmers and ranchers as stewards of the soil," the Texas president said.

Naman said the Farmers Union objects to such a 'power-grab' over agricultural land by the Corps of Engineers, which evidently has the support of the Environmental Protection Agency.

"It is important that farmers and other property owners voice their objection to this proposal by writing to their Congressman and to the Corps of Engineers," Naman said. The deadline for objections to the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, Washington, D.C. in June 6.

The Corps issued its proposals in response to a court suit which was won by the National Wildlife Federation and National Resources Defense Council in U.S. District Court

ASCS News

To be eligible for a disaster payment under the feed grain, wheat, or upland cotton programs, producers must file an acreage report of the affected acres while the evidence of the disaster is still apparent and before the acreage is put to other use.

Feed grain, wheat and/or upland cotton allotment holders should contact the ASCS office immediately in case of a disaster involving one of these commodities, to obtain full particulars of the disaster provisions.

The State ASCS committee establishes the final dates for reporting acreage. These dates are as follows: Cotton--June 15, Peanuts--August 1.

Farms will be visited at random to check the accuracy of reports. Measurement service will be made available for any program the producer may request. Producers may contact ASCS office for more details.

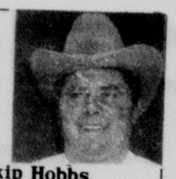
TEXAS TALK



By Skip Hobbs

Broiler business is backwards. Unique marketing factors are creating demands for smaller chickens, while advances in technology would make it comparitively simple to raise bigger birds. Geographical expansion into the Southern States was paralleled by breeding improvement producing chickens which could gain as much as three and a half pounds on less than eight pounds of concentrated feed. Broiler breeders were still concentrating on increasing the total weight of their chickens when demand suddenly made an about-face. Proliferation of the fast service fried chicken shops around the nation spawned a brand new demand . . . smaller chickens. Since these fast food service establishments buy by the pound and sell by the piece they found better profit margins in smaller animals. So backwards went the broilers and many producers in the industry find themselves in the unique position of producing lighter animals than those grown earlier.

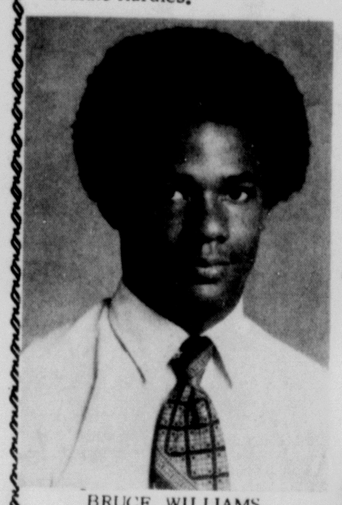
The police officer on your beat may resent being called a cop, but it has a very long history. The word "cop" in the sense of "one who captures or snatches" is recorded as early as 1704. It first came to English with the Norman Conquest and can be traced back to ancient Rome's capere meaning to capture.

Williams Pace Milano Eagles

The Milano Eagles closed their lockers to shed memories of a successful athletic program in their 74-75 school year. Bruce Williams brought the Eagles a state first when he won the state 330 intermediate hurdles in Austin.

Williams, a senior, shined throughout the athletic season and finished his career at Milano High with the following honors: All-District Basketball, All-Star Class B Basketball, All-District Track qualified to the state meet in the broad Jump and 330 Intermediate Hurdles.



BRUCE WILLIAMS

Williams cleared 22'10" to place second in the class B rankings and turned in a 38.7 time in the 330 hurdles which tied the state mark.

To start the athletic season the Milano Eagles pounded through district, claiming a 8-1 win-loss record placing second to Jonesboro. The Eagles played it down to the wire in that game, only letting Jonesboro by 20-19 which allowed them the right to the district crown.

In football, the Eagles placed three to the All-District team. Heading the elite listing was senior Dwight Wilson, followed by junior Wade Waddlington. To round out the list was sophomore David Gunnels playing in the interior line.

Two Eagles were picked to participate in the All-Star Class B football clinic to be held in Brownwood in July. Dwight Wilson and Ronnie Westbrook will represent the Eagles at the 6 and 8 Man All-Star clinic.

The Eagles went to the hoop and brought forth a District crown defeating Troy. The Eagles lost in their playoff efforts to Axtell, 63-57.

The Eagles placed two players to the district best. Dwight Wilson and Bruce Williams. Williams will be playing in the Class B All-Star game in Brownwood early in July.

The Eagles thinclads grabbed second place behind Troy and sent 16 qualifiers to the Regional meet.

The girls track program also gained recognition with the basketball team placing third in the district standings.

Bomita Williams was All-District and led the girls track program when she qualified to regional in the 60 and 100 yard dash. She placed 5th and 6th, respectively.

Charle Martin, athletic director and superintendent for the Milano Schools said, "If was a real good year for the Eagles, and I'm proud to be a part of the program."

EXOTIC JOBS!

You've heard of exotic summer jobs? MANUEL MEHOS, University of Texas offensive guard out of Galveston, will play on the beaches of Hawaii the next couple of months. He'll be working with a restaurant chain . . .Ironic, isn't it? The Poor Houston Astros sell their power-like Firs.-baseman LEE MAY, in order to improve their defense by getting BOB WATSON out of the oufield, ets. Guess who's dead last in National League fielding? That's right, your old friends, The Houstons.

****

Baytown Sports Editor MIKE FINLEY, a shrewd judge of football talent, came away from Aggie spring training to write that it should be against the law for one school to have as many quality, experienced football players as EMORY BELLARD has to turn loose on the SWC. . .Speaking of Baytown, some observers believe Arkansas Cornerback HOWARD SAMPSON, out of the Baytown Sterling, is a can't miss All-American.

BACK HOME IN SANTONE:

It was intersting to see where WARREN McVEA, the former University of Houston Streak, signed a contract with what become a San Antonio member of the Shaky-shaky World Football League. Now, both stars in what many call the best offensive game ever played in Texas Schoolboy Footbal, are back in the Alamo City. When McVea was at San Antonio Brackenridge, LINUS BAER was a Wheelhorse running back at San Antonio Lee. At that time, McVea and Baer were billed as two of the most exciting running backs in Texas high school history. Baer and his Volunteers won something like 38-37 in a spectacular show of broken-field running. Baer, who pvayed at Texas despite a bad knee, is a San Antonio Bank Veep.

Methodists Set Annual Meeting

NACOGDOCHES

Consideration of a resolution that calls for a pilot program to help "educate and sensitize" the local church pastor parish relations committees to the issues involved in appointing women and married couples as pastors of local churches is on the agenda of the Texas Annual Conference of The United Methdist Church scheduled to meet here at Stephen F. Austin University, May 26-29.

Submitted to the body by the conference committee on Status and Role of Women, the resolution calls for planning the pilot event in accord with a district superintendent for "two or three local churches" and a follow-up survey to determine attitudes toward the role of women in lay leadership and the clergy.

Ms. Lenora Fay Clark, chairman of the committee, said the pilot project is to be conducted in cooperation with the conference board of ministry. A second proposal of the committee requests the eleven district councils on ministry in the conference to set up a Talent Bank of lay women to serve the boards and agencies of the connectional church.

Other items to be considered during the four day annual meeting include:

--Establishing the Copeland Evangelism Award in recognition of those churches involved in outstanding evangelism efforts.

--A Conference wide study on world hunger that shall adquaint local churches with the world-wide problem and an action program to meet the need.

--A pilot project on Open Housing that shall determine areas where discrimination is practiced and to seek out the elderly who continue to be neglected.

--A summer training program to provide training for college youth who will be assisting local churches with summer youth programs.

--Continued support for the Black College Fund with special attention to Wiley College located at Marshall, Texas.

--Action on a proposed $3,776,000 beyond the local church annual conference budget that represents a $20,000 reduction over the 1975 budget.

--Vote on a request from the lakeview Board of Directors for approval of a $160,000 cafeteria renovation at Lakeview Methodist Assembly located near Palestine.

--Ordination of 17 ministers as Elders in The Church with another 16 as candidates for Ordination as Deacons.

--Election of lay and clergy delegates to the 1976 General Conference.

Bishop Earl G. Hunt Jr., resident bishop of the Charlotte (NCV Area of the United Methodist Church, is preacher for the annual meeting.

Baptists Rap Bill

A Texas Senate bill which would allow parimutueal betting in the state's largest cities today was called a "legalized ripoff" by an official of the state's largest Baptist organizarion.

Dr. James Dunn, secretary of the Christian Life Commission of the 2.2 million member Baptist General Convention of Texas, sharply criticized the bill sponsored by Sen. O. H. (Ike) Harris, a Dallas Republican.

"People are out of work, public respect for government is at an all time low and yet the Texas Senate is considering the possibility of legalized parimutuel betting on a local option basis," Dunn said.

"Texas voters in last spring's referendum showed they do not want to give the state the untenable job of trying to control crime, greed, and corruption

A good umbrella keeps you dry—unless the wind starts blowing. In this case, you are bound to get soaking wet!

There is really no such thing as total protection; neither in an umbrella nor in living through just one day. There are all sorts of windstorms, and they sweep into our lives and upset the best made plans. When this happens there is no such thing as finding an umbrella under which to hide.

Since life is so complicated, each of us has to learn to face it in his own way. Those with a strong and unshakable faith are the lucky ones. They have gained a sense of proportion and basic values through their church. And they didn't just "get" faith! They had to start looking for it. YOU do, too. And where? In church, of course!

PRICE OF ORIGINALITY GOES DOWN

SPECIAL REPORT TO BELL AND MILAM COUNTIES.

The Dr Pepper Bottling Company, producer of the most original soft drink ever, announced today an immediate across-the-board reduction in the price of Dr Pepper. Company spokesmen stated that "such a move was made possible by recent reductions in the cost of sugar." They added that "the company savings thus generated will be passed on to the consumer in an attempt to stimulate an economic upturn. As such, this move is in keeping with the uniquely American ideals embodied in a product such as Dr Pepper."

Safety Group Urges Memorial Day Care

The Texas Safety Association today reminded motorists to make their Memorial Day travel sensible by buckling safety belts and observing speed limits.

The Memorial Day holiday period begins at 6 p.m. Friday, May 23, and ends at midnight, Monday, May 26.

The mostimportant passenger protection feature in the American car today is the seat belt system, asserts TSA, yet it is estimated that less than 30 percent of drivers wear lap and shoulder belts regularly. As a result, each year more than 14,000 persons die in highway crashes that would not have been fatal if the victims had been wearing safety belts.

TSA cited the National Safety Council estimate that over 100 drivers could be saved over the upcoming holiday if they simply took the time to fasten their safety belts.

Speed is another key factor in traffic death and injury, points out TSA, noting that in 1974, statewide traffic deaths decreased by 17 percent. But in 1975, with compliance to the 55 m.p.h. speed limit apparently slipping, deaths are on the increase again. The latest Department of Public Safety report shows traffic deaths up 23 percent so far this year.

Learning to deal with situations that cause accidents can help the driving public survive not only in holiday traffic, but every day. A good way to learn is to take the Defensive Driving Course, a joint effort of TSA and the National Safety Council. Studies show that graduates have fewer accidents and buckle their safety belts.

The course also saves the graduate insurance money. Drivers who successfully complete the eight-hour, classroom course are eligible for a ten percent automobile insurance discount. For more information on the course, contact the Texas Safety Association, P.O. Box 9345, Austin, TX 78766.

"This truck cost us $41,000 in 1973. We'll have to buy two more just like it this year at a cost of $53,000 each."

Trucks and thousands of other kinds of equipment and materials are needed by Texas Power & Light to provide your electric service. The cost of practically every item has risen drastically in the last few years.

But that's only part of the story.

Generating plant fuels cost more. In 1952, the price of natural gas, the principal fuel used by TP&L, was just five cents per 1,000 cubic feet. In 1974, the price was 48 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The Company's total fuel bill in 1974 was $89 million, more than 64% higher than in 1973.

Construction costs more. To counter the spiraling cost of gas, TP&L is continuing to build new generating plants which will use lignite coal and nuclear materials. Ironically, the cost of lignite-fueled plants is more than twice as much per kilowatt as gas-fueled plants and the cost of nuclear plants is still higher.

Financing costs more. TP&L must borrow money to construct its plants and other facilities. While the interest rates the Company must pay on borrowed money are now somewhat lower than the all-time high of 10⅛% in 1974, they are still about twice the rates of 1964.

Texas Power & Light has always worked to keep the price of electricity as low as possible, consistent with maintaining the reliable service you expect. We will continue this effort in the future, but as our costs increase so must the price you pay for the electricity you use.

Town Hall Meeting
O.J.Thomas Junior High School Gym
Monday, May 26, 1975
7:30 p.m.

Purpose of Meeting: To explain, in detail, Cameron's first action year under the Community Development plan; to explain how it will affect our community; and to explain where development will be the first action year.

We invite all citizens of Cameron so that we may give you the information, first hand, and explain the guidelines of the program. There are three principal thrusts the first year:

1. Development of sewer systems in Alabama section of Cameron;

2. Development of playground and park in O. J. Thomas Junior High School area between 6th and 8th Streets, west of Nolan; and

3. Removal of substandard, dilapidated, burned houses in all areas of Cameron--houses not economical to restore; and some street work and drainage in the park area, as funds will permit.

We invite your participation in this meeting as, together, we build a better Cameron.

A. W. McCullin, Executive Director, Community Development Agency
